One Concern, Palo Alto

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to apply for the position of full time Data Scientist at One Concern.

I am a second year Master student in Statistics Department at Stanford University. I will graduate next March. I am into machine learning, big data, and programming. As for working experience, I was a Quantitative Analyst Intern at Dealstruck. There I worked with a small team to build a machine learning model which help the underwriting team efficiently identify the top quality loans.

Thank you for your consideration. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Bowen Deng
